Developing Future Leaders

Mr Sudhir Vasudeva, CMD, ONGC (in the middle), addressed the students during Student Outreach Programme. (On the dais from L to R) Prof S Das, IIT, Khargapur, Sanjay Joshi, MD, Aker Powergas Pvt Ltd, A K Purwaha, CMD, Engineers India Ltd and Yatinder Pal Singh Suri, Country Head, Outokumpu.

The first edition of Icon Lecture Series concurrently organised by Chemtech Foundation during Chemtech World Expo 2013 witnessed remarkable success.

The programme, which aims at developing future leaders for industry, in its very first edition attracted huge number of students from prominent institutions including IIT Bombay and IIT Khargapur.

However, it was not only the overwhelming presence, but the curiosity of the students revealed during the lectures series that marked the success of the lecture series.

The prizes for the two competitions were distributed by Dr Harish Iyer, CEO, Shantha Biotechnics; Mr Maulik Jasubhai, Vice-chairman and Chief Executive, Chemtech Foundation.

LEADERS SPEAK

It has been such an incredible experience in the past three days and I have a message to the students - regardless of working on a job or setting up business, the key drivers and the true drivers of genuine progress is invention; not innovation, but invention. Find one calling, a direction, but genuinely invent.

LEADERS SPEAK

Edit your own obituary every day. This may sound morbid, but think about it. Every day we live, we are casting our obituary. How we are as children to our parents, parents to our children, friends, colleagues, professionals, we chase our excellence, did we achieve our potential both professionally and personally, all it makes a difference. So always strive to cast the finest obituary you can. In doing so, not only you will help yourself, also help to make this world a far better place to live.

LEADERS SPEAK

By analysing the current paradigm shifts the decades old saying of Jack of all trades but master of None should be amended to Jack of all trades and master of One, as today's problems require a multi-dimensional, multi-faceted approach that would be enabled by such thinking inculcated in the young engineers here at the Student Outreach Program 2022

LEADERS SPEAK

Anyone including myself didn't have an answer to what the future of Oil & Gas Industry is but now coming to speak here at Student Outreach Program 2023, I have definite answer to this question that can't go wrong. You, all the students here are the future of this industry. Many professions will come & vanish, but the Oil & Gas sector will always be there even after 2070 as a key part of our energy security and primary power mix
